JAG Incentive Grant Scope of Work: July 1, 2012 to June 30, 2013

The Jobs for America's Graduates (JAG) program operates in 11 regions and Marion County. The growth of the JAG program from 12 to 56 in-school programs, 20 out-of-school programs and 5 alternative education programs has demonstrated a need for low-income students to receive instruction on employability skills, leadership skills and supported attainment of a high school diploma. The JAG program also supports the navigation process to post-secondary education and develops civic and social awareness.

The JAG program has provided instructional support for employability skills and requires additional support for employer marketing, job development, community outreach and post-secondary enrollment. As well as supporting participants in the year of follow-up.

Through the additional funding support, workforce regions/WIBs operating a JAG program will maintain 1 to 2 support staff in each JAG region to:

- Advance the level of business engagement
- Increase the number of community organizations and faith-based partners
- Nurture long-term business, community and faith-based partnerships
- Develop mentorship and/or internship opportunities
- Instruct and improve the navigation of the enrollment to post-secondary education or training
- Provide connections between post-secondary institutions and JAG students
- Develop and execute opportunities for JAG students to gain knowledge and experience with post-secondary institutions

The number of supportive staff for each region will be determined by the number of JAG students projected for each region. This number will include students served; in high school, in the follow-up phase, and students participating in the out-of-school sites.

By providing support staff for JAG programs operating in Indiana, the Department of Workforce Development plans:

- 70% of JAG students engage in a mentorship or internship by the end of their senior year
- All JAG sites report 20% of class time spent on fieldtrips/guest speakers each month
- 85% of seniors will have a pin and complete the on-line FAFSA by March 1, 2013
- 85% of seniors will have completed two post-secondary applications by May 2013
- 85% of seniors will have taken the ACT or SAT or other post-secondary assessment or certification assessment by May 2013
- 100% of JAG sites will participate in a college fair by April 2013
- 100% of JAG sites will have visited a college campus by May 2013

All data will be supported through accurate and timely reporting in the eNDMS (electronic National Data Management System) and monthly reporting on the Coordinators' Report. Coordinators' Reports will be due by the 15th of each month in alignment with data approval for the eNDMS. The JAG Program Managers will be accountable for all data timelines and accuracy. All reports must be submitted to the JAG Program Manager for approval before submitting to DWD.
